About Workshop:
English has emerged as the most promising language of the time. English is a global language that helps its users to study around the world. Also, English is a language of the future, and gives access to multiple cultures. In India, English enjoys great popularity as it has become the medium of instruction at various levels, such as schools, colleges, universities, public and private offices. Millions of fresh university graduates in India are finding jobs with the help of this language. But in rural areas English can be seen as a nightmare because of the complexity of the language. This workshop intends to resolve these problems and will help the participants to develop good writing skill and to speak better English with better pronunciation.

Following topics will be covered in the workshop:

- How to write Vedic/Literary and Official Documents
- Study of English Sounds
- Classification of Consonants, Vowels and Diphthongs
- Rhetoric and Notes
- Introduction

Celebration of Punjabi Day by Deptt of Languages

On Nov 12, Dept. of Languages celebrated Punjabi Day by giving emphasis on Punjabi Language-the mother tongue of Punjabis. This day is observed to accentuate the importance of mother tongue and to make students aware regarding the challenges and threats that Punjabi Language is facing at present.

In the race of globalization, Each and every person wants to acquire International Languages such as English, French etc. which is totally acceptable, but what is not acceptable is defaming one's mother tongue in order to glorify some other languages. To motivate students to take pride in their mother tongue was the basic theme of this event. Prof. Kanwaljeet Kaur addressed the students and raised some serious issues. Professor emphasized the importance of mother tongue i.e. Punjabi and presented some eye opening data to students. Afterwards, Prof. Jaspal Singh gave lecture on History of Punjab, background of Punjabi Language and present situation of this language. Students took great interest in the lecture and afterward they all thanked the staff for giving them such invaluable lessons.

On this occasion, Principal Dr. Baljit Singh applauded the Dept. of Languages for organizing such days. Prof. Arwinder Arora minded the stage. Prof. Lakhwinderjeet Kaur was also present there along with all other faculty members.

A Documentary on the Life of “Shaheed-E-Azam Bhagat Singh” Shown to the Students

On the 115th birth anniversary of S. Bhagat Singh, BAM Khalsa College, Garhshankar under the banner of Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat organised a programme for the great freedom fighter and national hero of the country.

On this occasion, the College Principal Dr. Baljit Singh also addressed the students and asked them to bring out the best of them. He also asked the youth to take a pledge on his birth anniversary that they will not leave their country and will work hard here to make the country the best.

Prof. Ritu Singh and all other members of 'Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat' of BAM Khalsa College made arrangement to show a documentary on the life of S. Bhagat Singh. The function took place at Language Lab of the College. The students took pronounced interest in this documentary and left the lab with new energy and vision.

An Extension Lecture on “Emotional Intelligence (EI)”

The age of modern man is full of new challenges and stress. This turmoil can be seen in almost all the spheres of life. We need to find a solution to tackle this situation, in which EI comes to our rescue. EI has become even more important than IQ. Emotional intelligence (EI) is the ability to identify and regulate one's emotions and understand the emotions the others. EI helps you to build relationships, reduce team stress, defuse conflict and improve over all mental health of the individuals. Students, after Post COVID 19, are facing many problems and feel themselves lost.

In order to facilitate its students, the faculty of the college tries its level best. Department of Languages and Social Sciences organized an extension lecture on the theme “Emotional Intelligence for a Better Mental Health and Academic Success”. The lecture was organized on Sept. 24, 2022 at College Library Hall. Daniel G. Mekonnen, an international research scholar, was invited as speaker to address the students of the college. Mr. Daniel provided a great insight to this new emerging science. He gave a detailed lecture on self-awareness, social-awareness, self-regulation, relationship-management, empathy & social skills. The students showed great interest in this lecture and many questions were asked from the speaker, in response to which Mr. Daniel provided satisfactory replies to the students of the College.

Principal, Dr. Baljit Singh also addressed the audience and gave a warm welcome to the speaker. Principal, Dr. Baljit Singh also laid great importance to emotional intelligence and asked the students to seek help from the Holy Scriptures. These texts make us emotionally strong and one can master his emotions by seeking help from the same. Principal also congratulated both the departments and Prof. Navdeep Singh (Co-Ordinator) for organizing such a wonderful and meaningful event for the students. Prof. Jaspal Singh, Prof. Lakhwinderjeet Kaur, Prof. Ritu Singh, Prof. Arvinder Singh, Prof. Harwinder Kaur, Prof. Arvinder Kaur, Prof. Navdeep Singh and all other members of the faculty were present there.
